COMMUNITY LIBRARY

Saturday, May 4

Join us for a celebration of the pop culture phenomenon that is Star Wars. From costume contests and trivia, to Star Wars themed cooking and gaming, there's something for everyone. We'll be joined by a special guest from the Star Wars Universe, so be sure to bring a camera! And come in costume yourselves! For a full list of the day's events in each department, see inside pages. ■

Tri-Hamlet Community Day

Saturday, June 1, 10:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
(Rain date June 2)

*Parking at sites is extremely limited;

Discovery Center

Things with Wings

Are birds the only creature to have wings? Insects and bats have wings, but neither of them are birds. Our Discovery Center features the many things with wings that are all around us. With the guidance of wildlife educator Eric Powers, who founded Long Island's Bobwhite Quail Project, we will incubate close to 75 quail eggs for a live experience of a thing with wings. Enjoy a virtual experience (including watching the webcam to see the quail chicks hatch and develop) on our Discovery Center online by visiting www.communitylibrary.org/kids/discoverycenter. Once hatched, the library will take care of the quails for about 2 weeks before returning them to Eric and his team to raise into adulthood. In June, the quails will be released into the wild. More details to follow, since the quails' release will be open to the public.

Drop-In Programs

Drop in for wing-related programs:

Friday, May 24, 4:30 – 5:15 p.m.

No registration necessary.

As the weather gets warmer and the birds begin to build their nests, why not create a house for them to lay their eggs in. Just hang the birdhouse in a tree and watch the birds come! Grades K-6.

Tuesday, June 4, 4:30 – 5:15 p.m.

No registration necessary.

Get outside and fly some airplanes! Stop by the library and we will create some very cool paper airplanes that really fly. Then you can get outside and fly them! Grades K-6. ■

Ensuring Our Library's Fiscal Health

The Office of the New York State Comptroller has announced that it will conduct a routine audit of the Mastics-Moriches-Shirley Community Library's internal controls in the near future.

The New York State Comptroller regularly audits municipal agencies – including towns, villages, libraries, schools and fire districts – in order to protect the public's investment. Recent Long Island libraries that have benefited from the expertise of the New York State Comptroller include Smithtown, Hauppauge and Wantagh.

The audit process is an integral part of the government's system of "checks and balances" and will provide the library with an objective, independent review of its internal controls.

The audit process is designed to enable and encourage local government officials to maintain or improve fiscal health by increasing efficiency and effectiveness, managing costs, improving service delivery, and accounting for and protecting assets. Furthermore, it promotes government reform and fosters good governance in communities statewide by providing local government with up-to-date information and expert technical assistance, according to the New York State Comptroller website.

"The Board of Trustees and myself are welcoming the input of the comptroller's staff and the resulting audit, and hope to gain valuable insight to ensure that public tax dollars are being spent and accounted for in the most efficient and effective manner," said Library Director Kerri Rosalia.

"The Board of Trustees takes our fiduciary responsibility very seriously," states Board President James Mazzarella. "However, we can always improve. I believe every public institution can learn and benefit from the scrutiny provided through a New York State audit. While the process will be time-consuming for our library staff, the end result will ensure that proper policies and procedures are in place to protect taxpayer dollars in order to provide the best possible library services to the patrons of Mastics-Moriches-Shirley Community Library."

"The Board of Trustees already authorizes a full external audit of the library's finances on an annual basis that complies with the guidelines of the Government Accounting Standards Board," Ms. Rosalia said. "These audits, conducted by Baldessari and Coster, have resulted in recommendations that were readily accepted and enacted by the Board of Trustees. Similarly, we are optimistic that the New York State Comptroller's Office will provide us with further suggested actions to protect the community's assets by improving our financial management practices." ■
