Community Service @ Your Library

The Teen Department is committed to offering meaningful opportunities for our community teens to volunteer at the library. Community service is useful for graduation requirements and honor societies.

There are currently two ways in which our teens can volunteer: Reading Buddies and Study Buddies.

This month we highlight the very successful No-Sew Blanket program. The program began on March 3, 2013, and so far 43 teens have participated, working approximately 90 hours and making 50 blankets. These blankets have been donated to charitable organizations in the community and in all cases have been greatly appreciated, and all would welcome more. Congratulations to all the teens for their hard work and community spirit.

Reading Buddies

Teens in Grades 9 – 12: be a reading buddy and help elementary school students with reading and homework. Volunteer credit given. Pick up an application at the Teen Department or at <http://www.communitylibrary.org/teens/volunteer/>
